COVID-19/CORONAVIRUS UPDATE

March 12, 2020 – Frederik Meijer Gardens & Sculpture Park is making every effort to stay open to serve our guests. Museums and cultural institutions are an oasis of joy that provide a much-needed place of well-being.

Preventing the spread of disease, illness and infection has always been something we take very seriously. We are aggressively monitoring information released from the Federal Government and the Center for Disease Control (CDC), The State of Michigan and the Kent County Health Department.

We are continuing to follow our high standards of cleanliness throughout our facility.

We are asking visitors who do not feel well to visit at another time.

Personal hygiene etiquette is, according to all the health experts, an essential part of fighting COVID-19 and other disease:

- Hand washing is essential. Please wash your hands on a regular basis and take the time now to review the CDC hand washing guide: https://www.cdc.gov/healthywater/hygiene/hand/handwashing.html
- The CDC has also published guidelines for coughing and sneezing: https://www.cdc.gov/healthywater/hygiene/etiquette/coughing_sneezing.html
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth.

Further measures from our team:

- Where possible, doors will remain open to avoid the need to touch a door handle
- Staff members will refrain from shaking hands

Thank you for your cooperation. Follow our website and social media channels for updates.
